

REPUBLICANS DO TEAM WORK FOR ENTIRE TICKET

Three Good Meetings Held with Each Candidate Asking Support for All

MEETINGS TONIGHT

The Republican party will hold three meetings this evening, at Liliuokalani school, Bishop and the Liliuokalani school.

MEETINGS SATURDAY

Republican candidates will around the island Saturday. King at Kaneohe at 2:30, Libbyville, 3:30, and Kakaako, 4:30. Where money pictures will be shown and a free will run from Kakaako and the voters and the families home after the meeting.

steady and persistent attack on split ticket advocacy directed at William McClellan and Peter, Democratic candidates, the board of supervisors to the election of two Republicans, featured their meetings at Kakaako, Kakaako Junction last night. The argument used was that with the liberal of the Republican superior candidates there is no reason to elect Democrats who have shown themselves to be opposed to all progressive improvements and who are more likely to bring discord into the island than otherwise be a harmonious advance for the betterment and improvement of Honolulu. Albert Kauwe was the chairman at Kakaako, Edward Marino at Kakaako and J. Kanian Evans at Kakaako Junction.

Achi Gets After Petrie

W. C. Achi, candidate for supervisor, declared that Petrie, as chairman of the road committee, had spent $19,000 of the city money to build a road for the Oahu Railroad & Land Company, but when some poor people in Kakaako had asked him to repair their road he demanded that they pay $5 a front foot. Achi also appealed to the fourth district to support him, pointing out that he represented 3500 voters in the fifth district and it would be unjust and unfair to those people to be without representation. "I have been with the Republican party since it was first started here and I am better acquainted with the laws of this territory than any other candidate running," he said. Achi also made fun of the arguments being used by J. J. Fara, Democratic candidate for mayor. "Fara says if elected he will reduce the high cost of living, but I doubt if he can read the papers and really knows why the prices have increased." He got a big hand.

Arnold Talks Frontage Tax

Charles N. Arnold, candidate for reelection as supervisor, asserted that the Democrats, including McClellan and Petrie, had worked under the frontage improvement law for 14 months and had done absolutely nothing to construct permanent roads. "When the Republicans came into office," he said, "with less money they went ahead and did what they could and at the first opportunity had the frontage tax amended in order that it would be just to all, and also got the legislature to give more money to the courts." As an example of what the Republicans had done under adverse circumstances, he pointed to Kakaako, where the street extension and Berea street.

"If you want roads made of molasses vote for the Democrats, but if you want real permanent concrete roads put the Republicans into office," said John Andrews. "The trouble with Honolulu is that as soon as it gets a

DENIES G. O. P. SERVED BOOZE

As campaign manager for the Republican candidates at the last primary election I heard the charges and misstatements of L. L. McCandless, Democratic campaign manager, that the Republican party freely dispensed booze on primary election day at some of the houses associated with the party and that the Republican party funds during election day is concerned.

This is the statement made today by James L. Holt, secretary of Mayor John C. Lane and manager of the primary campaign, and he also issued a challenge to L. L. McCandless to prove the charges which he made at the Liliuokalani school last Tuesday evening at a Democratic meeting.

"Not a cent of the Republican candidates' campaign fund was spent for free booze at any precinct of the Republican party," continued Holt. "My vouchers for very cent spent for that occasion is open to the inspection of Mr. McCandless and the public, and I openly challenge Mr. McCandless to substantiate his charges and present evidence that the Republican party did willfully and knowingly dispense free booze to the voters of the 14th precinct any other precinct for that matter as he claims with full knowledge of its management."

If Mr. McCandless would really take the trouble to find out who were responsible for the free distribution of booze before primary election day, before making such false accusations that the Republican party would stoop to such low and dirty politics as he so confidently claims, he wouldn't have to look very far from his own party's doorstep, better than your party's kitchen, before you cast stones at the party of the immortal Lincoln.

It is commonly reported in this community that the gambling has been strenuously working day and night for the reelection of the Democratic sheriff, and that thousands of dollars and free booze will flow unlimited for this election of June 5th. Better keep tabs on that unlimited supply of booze, $10 a day for runners for each precinct as reports is a lot of money to throw away on hopeless shenanigans. Better take a tip from (Joe) and it will pan out.

good thing someone wants to spoil it. Hopkins Warmly Praised. James Bicknell, editor, while asking that the voters support him, also praised Edward Hopkins, candidate for sheriff, whom he said had worked for five years in the office and was the best clerk he had.

Daniel Logan stated that the Republican ticket was the best equal rights ticket ever presented to the voters, as it had every nationality on it.

A mistake which was, perhaps, the fault of the stenographer rather than the printer, related some proposal of a British toast to the three per cent consols instead of three present consols.

BOURBONS OFFER COUNTER PLAN TO THE REPUBLICANS

Would Have Each Party Send Speakers to Other Side At Final Rally

TONIGHT'S MEETINGS

The Democratic candidates will meet at the Liliuokalani school, Bishop and the Liliuokalani school.

Because of three general campaign meetings this evening, arranged for in advance, the Democratic candidates for city and county offices were unable to accept the challenge of the Republican party to a debate on the campaign issues. Prof. W. A. Bryan, one of the Democratic managers, now comes forward with a proposition whereby, if accepted, the Democrats will send two speakers to the final G. O. P. rally next Monday evening, and the Republicans will send two of their speakers to the Democratic meeting.

A portion of Professor Bryan's letter to Edward Marino, Republican campaign manager, outlining the proposition, was published in the late news columns of the Star-Bulletin yesterday. The letter, in full, is as follows:

Counter Offer Made

In view of the laudable (if sincere) desire on the part of the Republican campaign managers to get the attitude of the Democratic party on the issues involved in the local campaign before a Republican audience, and in refutation of the questionable use made by your party of our sincere and courteous reply of May 30 in your paid advertisements in the daily press, the Democratic campaign committee makes the following proposition which we believe is open and above board and which is fair and just to both parties.

The Democratic campaign committee will allow any two of the Republican candidates now before the voters in the coming election a total of 30 minutes speaking time (8:30 to 9 p. m.) at our closing rally at Alaala park in exchange for a like courtesy for two Democratic candidates on the Republican speakers' stand at their final rally on that night. It is, of course, mutually guaranteed that both parties will be given a respectful hearing and that their speeches are not subject to newspaper report or editorial comment. We naturally wish the voters and not the daily press to pass on the relative merits of the speeches made.

In closing, it seems proper to say that the Democratic party has no desire to simulate your questionable campaign tactics as exemplified in the distorted paid publicity given to your proposed Bijou debate in which you extend and accept your own proposition to debate public questions at your own convenience on your own terms, under your own management and before a "packed" house.

The Bourbon candidates held two meetings last night, one in Kakaako and the other at the end of the Emma street car line. The attendance at the Kakaako meeting was small, and the Auwalolimu meeting, while well attended, was short of interest to some extent by the rain.

Supervisors Roasted. Jesse Uluihi, candidate for supervisor, "roasted" the Republican candidates for supervisors and declared that E. A. Mott-Smith, when president of the board of health, caused all banana plants to be ruined. He declared the people of Auwalolimu would never forget the period that Mott-Smith held that office.

"Are you going to vote for a man of that kind, who is liable to shoot the bananas down again?" shouted the weekly Hawaiian newspaper editor. He referred to the mosquito campaign, called Mott-Smith a "mosquito" and urged the people "not to give him anything at all."

Uluihi said he didn't have a thing against Ben Hollinger—that the only trouble with Ben was that he was always buying little monkeys for Kapiolani park.

"You people here have no monkeys," quoth Jesse.

"Aw, they grow up here," yelled some one from the outskirts of the crowd.

Straight Ticket Urged

Uluihi urged that the people vote the straight Democratic ticket. He called attention to the fact that a local morning paper, favored by the straight G. O. P. ticket, or else he—Uluihi—would be elected.

"Why, that morning paper is merely seconding my nomination," shouted the orator.

He went on to say that he had nothing against "Eddie" Hopkins, Republican candidate for sheriff.

"He's all right," the editor continued, "but if he is elected the Advertiser will supply the captain of detectives, chief of police, deputy sheriff and all the rest of the men in the department irrespective of the civil service, and that is why both papers are backing him."

John Markham, candidate for supervisor, thanked the voters for the support they gave him in the primaries but urged that the party as a whole be given just a little more support in the general election.

"You all know what the last Democratic board did for you," Markham said. "The Democrats have done something for the Hawaiians, and that is more than the Republicans have ever done."

MAKING IT PLAIN

The Pure Food and Drug Laws aim to protect the public by preventing mis-statements on the labels of preparations but some people continue to accept "extracts" of cod livers thinking they will get the benefits of an emulsion of cod liver oil.

The difference is very great. An "emulsion" contains real cod liver oil, which has had the heavy endorsement of the medical profession for many years, while an "extract" is a product which contains no oil and is highly alcoholic.

Scott's Emulsion guarantees the highest grade of real Norwegian cod liver oil, skillfully blended with glycerine and Possibility of transferring W. R. Castle, Jr.'s new bureau of interned prisoners from the Red Cross to the army is suggested in a letter received by W. R. Castle, Sr.

TEN WEEKS OF ARMY ENOUGH FOR SOLDIER

Ten weeks of army life were enough for Pvt. Robert M. Beam, Coast Artillery Corps, judging from cards which have just been issued from Fort Kamehameha announcing the soldier as a deserter. Beam joined the army on March 1 of this year and left at Fort Shafter on May 16.

At the time of enlistment Beam was a resident of New Cumberland, West Virginia, where his mother, Mrs. Margaret Beam, is now living.
